BRIEF COURSE DESCRIPTION

The aim of the course is to give students a comprehensive view of the effect of taxes on entrepreneurship, investment and growth. Taxes will be studied from two different perspectives: from the Treasury's perspective, which aims at collecting revenue in an efficient and equitable way, and from the taxpayer's perspective, which tries to minimize the burden of taxes.

REQUIREMENTS

Principles of microeconomics

COURSE AIMS

Students will develop a foundation for understanding the effects of taxes on consumers' and firms' choices, and for evaluating the ensuing impact on market outcome. They will also be able to understand the basic tax planning strategies both in domestic and international markets

TEACHING METHODOLOGY

Traditional lectures

ASSESSMENT TYPE

Written exam (multiple choices, exercises and open questions) and optional oral exam and/or short essay. (this may change due to Covid restrictions)

Lo studente, disabile e/o con DSA, che intende usufruire di un intervento individualizzato per lo svolgimento della prova d'esame deve contattare l'ufficio Integrazione Disabili dell'Università del Salento all'indirizzo paola.martino@unisalento.it
